OFFICE-In the new Post Office Building Merchant Street, Honolulu, H. L.

Let Bygones be Bygones. Let bygones be bygones; If bygones were clouded By aught that occasioned a pang of regret, O let them in darkest utiliving be shrouded;

"Tie wite and 'tie kind to fofgree and to forget. Let bygone be bygone, and good to extracted, From ill over which it is folly to fret ; The wisset of mortals have foolishly acted-

The Kindest are those who forgive and forget. Let bygones be logouss; 0, charish no longer. The thought that the sun of Affection has set; Eclipsed for a moment, its says will be stronger, If you, like a Christian, forgive and forget

Let briganes be briganes; your heart will be lighter, When kindness of yours with reception has met; The flame of your love will be poter and brighter

II, Stollike, you strive to forgive and to forget. Let bygones be bygones; O, purpe out the leaven Of malice, and try an example to set

To others, who, craving the mercy of Heaven, Are sadly too slow to firgive and to firget. Let bygone be bygones; remember how deeply To Heaven's furteurance we all are in debt They value God's infinite goodness too celaply

Who hard not the precept, " Surgive and forget," VARIETY.

The Boston Post asks-" Can any good come out of Chicago ?" And the jealous St. Louis Republican replies-" Yes, it does ; as soon as it can get out." The King of France complained that his Irish regiments gave him much uneasiness. "Sire," replied the nommander, "your Majesty's enemies make the complaint."

A woman who never measures her bysterics according to the size of the occasion, but furnishes just as fine a variety on finding a tumblebug in her lunch backet as if it was an alligator.

"The ugliest of trades," says Jerrold, " have their moments of pleasure. " New, if I were a gravedigger, or even a hangman, there are some people I could work for with a great deal of enjoyment." No endearing tones, no help of loving hands, no ministration, however gentle, no sid, however kindly tendered, is of the slightest benefit to a man when he is engaged in getting into a tight-fitting shirt.

The longest sentence on record was constructed by a Western Judge. He sentenced a man for life, and afterward clapped on two more years to the sentence because the prisoner called him " no gentleman."

The late Duke of Glourester was not famous for intellect. He complained that the flies would get into his mouth. "Perhaps if your royal highness were to shut it." " Ab, I did not think of that." Sydney Smith one day observing Lord Brougham's earriage, on the panel of which appeared a "B" surmounted by a coronet, said to a friend, "There goer a carriage with a bee outside and a wasp

Louis XIV., having gained a victory, the Duke of Maine said to him, with the utmost refinement of flattery, "Sire, I shall never be anything but a dunce; for whenever you gain a victory my tutor gives me a holiday."

" Ann," said a landlady to her new girl, " when there's bad news, particularly private afflictions, always let the boarders know it before dinner. It may seem strange to you, Ann, but such things make a great difference in the eating in the course of a year." Thelwall and Coleridge were sitting once in a beautiful recess in the Quantock Hills, when the latter said- Citizen John, this is a fine place to talk treason in 1" "Nay, Citisen Samuel," replied he, "it is rather a place to make a man forget that there is any necessity for treason."

A young gentleman was one day complimenting Madame Denis on the manner in which she played the character of Taire, when the lady objected that an actress, to play it well, should be young and beautiful. "Oh! no!" exclaimed the candid culogist, "you are a proof to the contrary."

Fletcher, Bishop of Nismee, was the son of a tallow chaudler. A proud dake once enfeavored to mortify the prelate by saying at the levee that he amelt of tallow, to which the other replied, "My lard, I am the son of a chandler, 'tis true, and if your lordship had been the same, you would have remained a tallow chandler all the days of your

Almost the latest words that were spoken by the good Bishop Selwyn was an expression in the Maori language, to him familiar as English, declaring, "It is light." So the light came to one who had always earnestly desired it, and who had done his work abroad and at home as an honest upright, Englishman, and a self-denying minister of distinguished wisdom, faithfullness, and real.

Petroleum was utilized as early as 1806. Nat Carey, a pedlar, was the first person to do so. He gathered it by floating finnel cloths on Oil Creek, Pa., and when they became enturated with the oil floating on the surface he saved it by ringing out the cloths. The oil thus collected be sold as liniment, under the name of Seneca oil, and it became famous.

Socrates, when accused, would not allow any of his disciples to undertake his defence, as he considered that a life passed in the paths of virtue should be his sufficient justification. When he was informed that the Athenians had condemned him to death, he quietly replied, " Nature has long condemned them to the same." And when his friends entreated him to fly be asked them, " Do you know of any place in Africa which is not visited by death ?"

Although a printer may be setting all day, yet in his own way he is a great traveler, or at least his hand is, ar we shall prove. A good printer will set 8000 ems a day, or about 24,000 letters. The distapes traveled over by his hand will average about Ift. per letter, going to the boxes in which they are contained, and of course returning makes 2ft, every letter he sets. This would make a distance each day of 48,000ft., or a little more than nipe miles; and in the source of a year, leaving out Sundays, that member travels about 3000 miles.

There is a member of the House of Commons who for the last three years has been locked up in a lunatic asylum. There is no prospect of his ever being able to resume his function of legislator among those who represent the united wisdom of the country, and yet, addly enough, there exists no method by which his seat can be vacated. A member of Parliament, as is known, cannot of himself resign his sent-all he can do is to accept that "office of profit under the Crown " as steward of the Chiltern Hundreds, which has been reserved for the purpose of voiding elections and rendering necessary the issue of a new writ. But a member is not of course competent to take office under the Crown if he is mad and locked up. If he his mad and not locked up the case is naturally diff-

In a rural district of Forfarshire a young plow man once went courting on a Saturday night. In vain he racked his brain for some interesting topic ; he could call up no subject at all suitable for the occasion-not one sentence could be utter, and for two long hours he sat in silent despair. The girl herself was equally silent, she no doubt remembere the teaching of the old Scotch song, " Men maun be the first to speak," and she sat as patiently regarding him with mute surprise. At last Johnny reddenly exclaimed : " Jenny, there's a feather on yer aprop ?" " I widna ha'e wondered if there had been twa," replied Jenny, " for I've been sittin' aside a
